

Exploring Indianas Historic Sites, Markers & Museums - West Central Edition: Indiana Historic Travel Guide Book - West Central Edition (Indiana Bicentennial History Road Trip Guide Series 6)

Take a fun road trip through the rich history of Indiana using Exploring Indianas Historic Sites, Markers & Museums West Central Edition as your guidebook. Celebrate the Indiana Bi-Centennial by traveling the roads and towns in West Central Indiana. Visit the places and learn the stories of Indianas rich history. From the rugged beauty of Turkey Run and Shades State Park to the historic Mansfield and Bridgeton Mills, visitors to west central Indiana will find a multitude of historical and natural wonders. The largest, by volume, waterfall is located in this region as well as dozens of charming covered bridges in Parke County and other nearby communities. The westernmost naval battle of the Revolutionary War took place on the Wabash River in Sullivan County and at Terre Haute an imaginative glassmaker designed the classic Coca-Cola bottle. Terre Haute is also home to Fowler Park, a pioneer village that visitors can watch volunteers enact life as it was in frontier times on specified weekends. Exploring Indianas Historic Sites, Markers & Museums West Central Edition is the guide you need to explore Indianas historic treasures. Celebrate the Indiana Bi-Centennial in style as you wander through history using the Indianas Historic Sites, Markers & Museum series. This guide is part of the Indiana Bicentennial History Road Trip Guide Series. The nine books in this series will list every Historic Marker, Indiana Historic Site and most of the museums found in Indiana. Each Indiana History Guide Book will include contact web sites for the towns and cities of Indiana to help you plan your lodging, dining and shopping needs as you tour Indiana learning stories about the wonderful history of Indiana.
