

Indian Diaspora, Economic, Political and Culture Inquiry

Demographically speaking, Indian Diaspora is relatively smaller than the Chinese and Jewish. However, it is perhaps the oldest and most widespread all over the world. Not surprisingly, Indian Diaspora is found today in nearly one hundred and thirty-six countries, including both the developed as well as developing economy. More significantly, they are estimated over twenty million. Remarkably, in forty countries, the number of Indian immigrants exceeds 50,000.
